Khorī Garden, Karachi.

The organization offers its advisory services to facilitate individual philanthropists.

Karachi - Members board of trustees Alamgir Welfare Trust Int'l express their grief over the tragic incident of stempede occurred at Khorī Garden when an individual was distributing flour sacks to needy women. They also prayed to Almighty for a prosperous economy to eradicate such incidents in future.

The statement was issued here at Karachi by Mr. Shakeel Dehelvi, Director Public Relations Alamgir Welfare Trust International. He added that according to distinguished economists of the country, the inflation has risen manifolds during the past few years which not only affected the blue collar class but even the white collar class is forced to look towards the welfare organizations like ours to make their ends meet.

To face such a critical situation individuals and government authorities must react rationally to plan a proper strategy. He stressed that the responsibilities lie mainly on welfare Organizations. He said that being the citizens of a Muslim State, industrialists, businessmen and elite class of the society played their role in assisting indigent humanity especially during the holy month of Ramadan by distributing ration on massive scales. He thought the tragic incident as a failure of planning and suggested that we should learn from these mistakes.

He appealed all those individuals philanthropists who want to assist needy people to benefit from the experience of his organization and urged them to distribute these items by first planning a thorough strategy.

He further added that Alamgir Welfare Trust Int'l has been indicating through various platforms that the recent economic depression and disastrous inflation is constantly making people life worse than ever and it is really the need of the hour for every individual to come forward and take his or her part in welfare activities whereas the organizations and Government should work vigorously to overcome such crises.
